Mr. Conner Recommends Changes in the Conduct of the School Library-New Building Sites-Routine Business.

The School Board was again distressed, last evening, over the Pierce donation of Darley-Shakspearean pictures to the public library. The correspondence already delivered upon this subject is a reminder of the voluminous epistolarian efforts of Wilkins Micawber. The impression prevails with some members of the board that enough has been said. It appears that the action of the board, in accepting gift, after lopping off his conditions that he be privileged to frame, mount and arrange the pictures in the Library, is not satisfactory to Mr. Pierce. Dr. P. H. Jameson appeared before the board, and was accorded the privilege of speaking on the subject. He said, very pointedly, that he did not see how the board could accept the gift at all unless it was accepted with the conditions. Mr. Conner was of opinion that the board should have control over the entire matter. Dr. Jameson, in conclusion, said: "Let Mr. Pierce make the frames, arrange and hang the pictures, and, if you don't like it then, let him take them away." The board declined to take any further action in the matter, and proceeded with other business. Superintendent Jones reported 15,283 as the school registration for January, and 15,463 as that for February, the latter being an increase of 686 over the same month in 1892. The per cent. of attendance was 93 for February, with seventy cases of corporal punishment.

The committee on finance and auditing was given authority to negotiate the third installment of the temporary loan to the amount of $25,000, and the president and secretary were authorized to execute the notes of the board for this amount, the notes to be dated March 31, 1892, and payable May 4, 1892. The committee on buildings and ground

Northeast corner of Tennessee and Twentieth streets, 265 feet to alley, $4,500. Two hundred and three and one-third feet on Illinois, 29712 deep, midway be-tween Twenty-second and Twenty-fourth streets, $5,850. Mr. Scott, who spoke for the committee, reported that they had selected the lot offered at the northeast corner of Tennessee and Twentieth streets for $4,500. REMONSTRANCE UNAVAILING

There appeared in the lobby three residents of the Panhandle to protest against this selection of the committee as they declared the location was altogether too far south, the most of the population being to the north of this location. Their remonstrance read as follows:

We, the committee appointed by the residents and property-owners north of Fall creek, protest against the purchase of ground at the corner of Twentieth and Tennessee streets for school purposes, regarding it as too far south, and desiring a more central location. C. B. OAKES.

WILSON WELLS. W. F. BARROWS.

Commissioner Scott proceeded to jump with both feet upon this gentle remonstrance of persons directly interested in the selection of a school-site, the location chosen being but one block removed from Kissel's garden. The remonstrance proved fruitless, as the board adopted the report. The supply department was given authority to expend $125 for printing-presses and material for water-color work.

The library committee reported the name of Charles Evans as nominee for the posi-tion of librarian for the ensuing year. This was laid over until the next meeting. The report continued: 2. The committee recommends that the assistant librarian shall also be made the superinlibrarian, and shall have charge of the library force and attendants, and management of the book and reading-rooms, and to this end the rules of the library be so amended as to make a clear definition of the duties of both the ibrarian and the superintendent. 3. Whereas, The law creating the public library and providing for its maintenance requires that it shall be used as an auxiliary to the publie schools of the city, therefore. Resolved, That the library committee recommend that the superintendent of the public schools of the city shall annually, in July, recommend to the president of the School Board an advisory committee of four persons having an intimate knowledge of the needs and requirements of the public schools, and of which committee the superintendent shall be the chairman, whose duty it shall be from time to time to make selection of books suitable for use in connection with public schools, and recommend the same to the librarian for purchase, to which lists the librarian shall add such other books as he shall deem wise to select, from which lists the library committee shall authorize purchases to be made, and no books shall hereafter be purchased by the librarian except as authorized in this way by the library committee. The second part of the report was referred to the committee on revision and t. third part was adopted.

INJURIOUS BOOKS. Pending adoption Mr. Conner said that the library was to be used especially in the public-school work; that under an opinion given to the board of commissioners several years ago, and while the library was without sufficient funds to support it, more than $30,000 of the special school taxes were diverted to maintain it.

away lately from its original purpose, and, admitted by the station-house authorities instead of keeping abreast of the times in supplying it with the new literature helpful in the school work, greater emphasis has been given to filling its shelves with hooks for literary people and those who have quit the schools. It is time to call a halt in this. There is an advisory committee of citizens in the general management, which is right, but to this should be added another committee of advice, composed of those who are daily thinking and laboring in the public-school work, whose duty it should be to make selections of the books and literature helpful in that work, and to suggest these to the board for the library. Another thing should soon be done. In a few months we shall move to the new Library Building. A committee should be appointed to go over certain of the fiction schedules and shelves, and sift out the chaff-worse than chaffdangerous books found there, and get them ready to send to the paper-mill. They have been there for many years, erept in under librarians and librarians, but they ought not to go into the new shelves." Recommendations for the erection of the following school buildings were adopted: A four-room addition to No. 31, on Lincoin lane; an eight-room building at No. 29, on College avenue and Eleventh street; an eight-room building to take place of fourroom building No. 16, in Indianola; a fourroom building at Cak Hill.

THE WORK OF HIGHWAYMEN

Conncilman McGill "Held Up" in the Center of the City by Four Foot-Pads.

Patrolman Bolen Shot While Pursuing the Thieves, but Not Seriously Hurt -- The Statesman Loses His Roll-Woman Robbed.

Robert McGill, councilman at large, was the victim of highwaymen, this morning, at 12:30 o'clock, and in the twinkling of an eye was relieved of $45 and his revolver by four men, who seized him as he was walking west on Georgia street, between Illinois and Tennessee streets. He was on his way home with Dick McAllister. The latter had stopped at a friend's house a moment, leaving Mr. McGill on the sidewalk to wait for him. As he was returning he heard Mr. McGill crying out, "Dick Dick; help, help!" and ran to his friend's assistance. The four highwaymen left their victim then and ran away. Three started north on Illinois street and one west on Georgia. McAllister blew a police whistle and patrolmen Edson, Bolen, Scheigert and Merchant policeman Breen, who were in Griffiths's restaurant, stantly responded. They chased three marauders going north to the alley at Van Camp's, which they entered. One of them turned south at the first alley, and came out on Georgia street just as Merchant policeman Walker appeared. He had his overcoat on his arm and was panting for breath, and yet he denied all knowledge of the robbery. In the meantime the other officers and McAllister had chased the two other robbers to Georgia street again, in the direction of the Vandalia yards. Bolen was gaining on them, when one turned and fired at him at close range. The bullet struck the middle finger of his left hand, but made only a slight wound. The blow, however, was enought to make him stumble and fall. Merchant policeman Breen then fired once at the men, and Bolen, recovering from the shock, drew his own revolver and fired three times. So far as known the shots did not take effect. The foot-pads were lost in the railroad yards.

They are known to the police by sight. Two of them are from Chicago, but the other two are local thugs. They were in Griffith's restaurant shortly before the incident of the robbery.

A Journal reporter questioned Wallace, the man captured by Walker, at the police station. He said he was a printer by trade, and worked at Rand & Mc-

Natly's, in Chicago, at numbering railroad tickets. He came to Indianapolis, he said, two days before, and had been living at lodging-houses and restaurants. He is a young man, and gave his age as eight-een years, though he looks older. He was well dressed, and, with a smooth face, looked a little dudish. His manner, however, convinced the officers that he is a Patrolman Bolen's wound was not a severe one, and did not injure the bone.

He wrapped it in a muslin bandage and did not leave his post of duty. Just previous to this event, Amor, alias "Casey" Wundram, was arrested by Bolen and Thompson, and was charged with drunkenness. It then occurred to them that Wundram was concerned in the brutal assault a year ago last summer on Patrolman Koons, on South street. The charge of assault and battery with intent to kill was then placed against his name.

Colored Foot-Pad's Big Haul. Mrs. Lizzie Walton, hving at No. 24 Koerner street, was robbed last evening, about 7:20 o'clock, of $102, on South Alabama street, about a square south of the police station. She was carrying the money in a pocket-book, which, in spite of its name, she was carrying in her hand, when a burly negro snatched it from her and ran east up an alley. Sergeant Laporte was summoned, but the highwayman was gone. Mrs. Walton was able to give a description of him. She says she had been up town to borrow the money, with which to prosecute a snit for divorce.

GARRIGUS BEHIND THE BARS.

Ex-Ghoul Arrested for Robbing the Grave of Emma Cossel, on Indictment.

At 11:30 o'clock last night Jeff Garrigus, the ex-grave robber, was arrested by detectives Kinney and Richards and slated at the police station as a fugitive. This charge, however, will be changed this morning and Jeff will be called upon to answer for an alleged graver offense.

It is understood that the grand jury, in its final report, returned an indictment against him for grave-robbing, and that s warrant was at once issued for his arrest "The library," said he, "has been drifting on that charge. In fact, that much was last night, although the people at the jail denied having any knowledge of an indict-

It will be remembered that during the latter part of January, at the time it was discovered that the grave of Emma Cossel, in Mt. Jackson cemetery, had been desecrated, Garrigus was placed under police surveillance, and his movements were shadowed for several days. This did not prohibit Jeff from becoming very loquacious, and he furnished the Journal with two or three columns of stories of grave-robbing that occurred in some other city which he played an active part. claims that he gave up his gruesome business, however, some time ago. As soon as the charge against him is changed he will be transferred from the police station to the jail, and will be arraigned in the Crim-

JOHN P. FRENZEL'S COLLAR

Various Ways in Which It Has Been Slipped Over the Necks of Statesmen.

Democratic Councilmen Who Talked One Way and Voted the Other-Recent Transfer of the Citizens' Company's Insurance.

As time rolls on the general belief that the Citizens' Street-railroad Company had a good deal to do with the strangling of the Broad Ripple franchise has developed into a positive fact, and with it the knowledge that the Frenzel collar is around the necks of a good many of the Democratic conneilmen.

When the Board of Public Works, after repeated conferences with the Broad Ripple company's attorneys, completed the contract, a copy of it was given to P. Jasper Ryan, chairman of the finance committee. This was on on a Thursday afternoon and the ordinance was not introduced in the Council until the following Monday night. The Journal at the time stated that it was rather an unusual proceeding to put a copy of the ordinance into the hands of a committee before it got to the Council, but it has since developed that nothing is unusual to a Democratic body.

Anyhow, Mr. Ryan had the ordinance, and the evening of the day it was placed in his hands he chanced to meet a party of gentlemen. A discussion arose over the merits of the contract, and Mr. Ryan deit vigorously, announcing fended that it was the best contract, taking into consideration the city's interests, that had ever been drawn. He also told a representative of the Broad Ripple company that he would vote for it, and would endeavor to make it a caucus measure.
The following Monday night when the ordinance was introduced P. Jasper Ryan seemed to be of the impression that it needed at least half a dozen radical amendments, and voted for them, thereby helping to strangle the ordinance. Rvan's promise to vote for the contract had seemed so sincere that at one time it was determined that the ordinance should | demand. The company, however, is only taken out of the city attorney hands and given into the tender care of P. Jasper Ryan, but in the meantime the Frenzel collar was slipped around his neck and he voted against the ordinance. Two or three weeks ago Councilman Rassmann told a Journal reporter that he would vote for the Ripple ordinance because he could not afford to vote against it. Dr. Light, secretary of the company, says that Mr. Rassmann promised him that he would at least vote for the ordinance. Last Monday afternoon, a few hours before the Council met, a conference was held in Mr. Rassmann's real-estate office, on the Circle. There were present Mesers. Schmidt, Schraeder, Lant and Gauss, who, with Rassmant, compose the German-American members of the Council. Just what took place at this conference is not generally known, but it is a matter of record in the journal of the Council proceedings that every member present at the conference that night opposed the Broad Ripple ordinance.

There has been considerable talk in fire insurance circles during the past few days over the fact that a part of the insurance on the Citizens' Street-railway Company's stables, and other property has recently been taken from the agents with whom it was placed and given to a firm, one member of which is a member of the City Council. A Journal reporter called at the insurance agency of Robert Zener & Co. yesterday and made inquiry as to the amount of in-surance that had been taken away. The people at that agency were indisposed to talk; they said that it was true that heretofore they had controlled the placing of all the insurance, but that recently some had been given to Dyer & Rassmann. "Will you give me the amount taken away?" inquired the reporter.

"No," was the answer, "we don't care to say anything at all about it. You are from the Journal, and Mr. Rassmann is a member of the City Council. I suppose your inquiry is in some way connected with his vote in The reporter admitted that the inquiry was predicated upon that fact, but did not see how the truth in the matter could af-feet either the Zener agency or Mr. Rassmann if everything was all straight.

This persuasion, however, failed to elict any further facts, and the reporter went to the agency of Dyer & Rassmann, on Circle street. Mr. Dyer, who was present, was loath to answer. He said he supposed that the fact that his partner was a member of the Council might, in some way, be in-

"What amount of street-railway insurance do you carry, and when was it placed with you?" asked the reporter. "I can't give you the exact amount," said Mr. Dyer, hesitatingly, "but it isn't much. Zener & Co. have had the msurance, and Charles Sayles has had some.' "Isn't it a fact that, until recently, Zener & Co. have had all of it or the placing of

"I believe so." "And they placed some of it with Mr. "Yes. It has been three years' insurance. I think we had a little of it before. We havn't much now."

"How much?" "Fifteen or twenty thousand." and instead of renewing at the Zener agency, it has been placed with you?" "Yes, but the amount is small. It has not been placed with us on a three-years term, but for only one year. It isn't a great matter. Besides, I'm not a councilman. It was placed with us after it expired at the Zener agency."

This was all the information the reporter could obtain, as the consciousness of having. perhaps, said too much came over Mr. Dyer, and further questioning was unavailing. Councilman Olsen is understood to have told Dr. Light that if the three-cent fare amendment fell through he would support the ordinance. It will be remembered that Mr. Olsen got up in the Council, last Thursday night, declared he had been relieved from fulfilling the three-cent-fare pledge which he had made, and asked the Conneil to pass the ordinance without any amendments. And yet, like his cowardly political confreres, he voted against the ordinance. In view of the facts above given it is m. teresting to read the distorted editorial gabble in the afternoon Democratic organ. Can the News with any show of sincerity longer commend the Council for throttling an enterprise, and declare that it was actuated by a desire to throw "safeguards" about the city's interests. Here is a sample of the gabble referred to:

These time-servers are coming forward with the advice now that the Council should reconsider the Broad Ripple street-ear ordinance at its next session; and why? Because the Republicans have made politics out of it, and seek to sacrifice the interests of the city in order to score a point against a political enemy

What is too good about it? The things the
are those things to be waived and public transportation handed over to this scheme for twenty years, with no chance for the city to control, without even provision for preventing this from being a black-mailing or combination job! The Council should do nothing that it has not done, It has, amid obloquy, prejudice and political intrigue, demanded simple guaranties that this project shall be in good faith. Those have been refused. To please the enemy now the Council is urged to desert the people's cause; throw away their safeguards, and let this corporation have the terms it wants. * * * We are offending the Republicans; we may lose some votes. If we do as the Republicans want done may be they will be blamed if the town is whipsawed. Verily, if the Republican minority and the franchise absorbers were to ery a little louder, perhaps a free gift would be made to Have we not had exhibitions of cowardice enough in this community! Who is charged with responsibility of city affairs! We commend the Council for its courage. Let it maintain it, maintain its dignity, maintain the interests of the people. Not one thing more should it con-It asks nothing that a bona fide project would not subscribe to. To urge it to ask less is an invocation of dishonesty as well as incapac-

Small Improvements.

Very little business came up before the Board of Public Works yesterday. Three or four minor street-improvement resolutions. among them one for grading and graveling Martindale avenue, were sent in to the board by the city engineer. The board considered these in secret session. A corrected assessment-roll for the opening of Wright street, from Sanders to Birken- | Lieved in one minute by the Cutimeyer street, was approved. A corrected assessment-roll for the improvement of College avenue, from Eleventh to Seventeenth street, was also approved.

Sprinkling Bonds. Fuehring Bros. yesterday presented to the Board of Public Works its contracts and bonds for sprinkling several districts. The bonds for Districts 1 and 2 were $3,000 each, that for District 3 $3,500, and for District 4 $1,000. The board gave its written consent to the transfer of the contracts for Districts 19 and 21 from Fuebring Bros. to L. A. Ful-

He Will Return. City Engineer Mansfield yesterday stated that Mr. Rudolph Hering will return to the city Sunday. The work he outlined has been tested by Mr. Mansfield satisfactorily.

Minor Municipal Matters. A remonstrance was filed against the sprinkling of Ray street, between West and McGinnis streets. No action taken. The street commissioner's pay-roll, amounting to $176.86, was approved; also the sewer gang pay-roll, amounting to $66. A petition was filed for the construction of a bridge across l'ogue's run, on the alley between Illinois and Eddy streets. No action taken.

A petition was filed with the board for grading and paving with cement the side-walks of Delaware street, between Market and Seventh streets. No action was taken. A petition was filed for grading and graveling Spann avenue, between Reid street and the Big Four railroad tracks. The engineer was ordered to prepare papers for this improvement.

MORE MEN LEAVE.

None of the Last Shipment of Panhandle Men Left-Detective Work on Both Sides.

Five of the last gang of machinists imported by the Pennsylvania Company from Philadelphia deserted yesterday, and were started back home by the strikers. Of the seven, one was discharged by the company because he was no mechanic. He had imposed on the company for a ride West. Another was not a machinist, but a helper. He said the company's agent had promised him $1.50 a day, and he was obdurate in his paying its helpers $1.20 a day, and fearing trouble if the discrimination were made, gave the young man a ticket back to Philadelphia. Thus none of the seven is now working.

One of the company's detectives discovered yesterday that a working machinist was having an unexplainable influence with many of the men, and two detectives were set to watch him. He saw that he was under espionage and concluded to quit. Going up to Mr. Clark, the master mechanic, he said:
"Well, I guess it is cheaper for me to quit than to have to pay two men to watch me.

Just give me my time and let me go. I am a member of the union and have been here to watch what goes on. But I guess the game is up, as far as I am concerned."
"Well," said Mr. Clark, as soon as he could recover from his surprise, "that is all right. You had better go back to work, anyhow."

"No," was the answer. "I ain't needed any longer. There are six or seven more just like me in the shop, but I won't tell you who they are. The Machinists' Union has as good a right to work detective schemes as the Pennsylvania Company." The union man received an order for his money, and was the center of a group o strikers at the headquarters last night. He lives at a point on the line east of here. Another gang of men is expected next Monday. The strikers say that a party of twenty-five recently started from the East, but dropped off one by one along the route as they reached points they wanted to go to. The agent was only able to deliver seven or eight to the company here. The recruits, as a rule, are not machinists, but mere adventurers, who take advantage of the company. Superintendent Darlington remarked yesterday that they bleed the company at the Eastern end, and then come here and blead the company for a fare to return home again. Several of the men have been discharged by the company, simply because they were utterly without skill. The strikers assert that work which, under the per diem system, cost the com-pany $10 to $12 to turn out is now costing from $18 to $20.
